Council Member Tucker, through the Chair, directed the City Clerk to read into the record the response from MBNA regarding minority hiring practices.

City Clerk Robert P. Marasco read the following:

September 20, 2002

Donald Bradley
President - Municipal Council
City Hall
920 Broad Street, Room 304
Newark, NJ 07102

Dear Mr. Bradley:

Some things are appropriate for public discussion, and some things aren't. For example, how we hire and whom we hire is between us and the people we hire. We don't think it is appropriate for the city council to expect us to answer questions about matters we consider to be confidential.

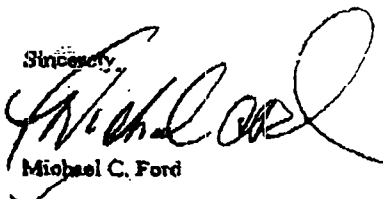

We are happy to talk to any member of the city council and of course we will always respectfully come to the council on any matter that requires the council's approval. But we will not discuss confidential information in either a public forum or a private forum.

However, to set the record straight, we currently employ 448 people in our Newark offices. A new building connected by a pedestrian bridge to our existing building is currently under construction. When it is complete it is likely that over a period of years our employment will grow to 1,500. Of the people hired since we opened the office, nearly 300 are from Newark, East Orange, Irvington, Orange, Hillside, and Jersey City. Sixty-two per cent of the MBNA people in Newark are female and 38% are male, and 87% are minorities.

We are delighted to be in Newark. The business results produced by the Newark office are among the best of all of our offices around the country because of the talented, enthusiastic people we've hired and will continue to hire here.

I understand that you personally were not one of the council members who was asking for this information but, nonetheless, you are now in possession of the facts that we are willing to share. Please feel free to give your colleagues on the Municipal Council a copy of this letter.

Sincerely,

Michael C. Ford

v.

James FARINA, personally and in his capacity as City Clerk of the City of Hoboken; Patrick Pasculli, individually and in his capacity as Mayor of the City of Hoboken; and City of Hoboken, a New Jersey Municipal Corporation,

Defendants-Appellants.

Argued June 26, 1990.

Decided July 2, 1990.

Prerogative writs action was brought to compel Hoboken city clerk to accept for filing a referendum petition calling for the repeal of an ordinance authorizing execution of a municipal development agreement and lease between the city of Hoboken and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey. The Superior Court, Law Division, Hudson County, denied plaintiffs' application for an order compelling the clerk to accept and file the petition, and plaintiffs appealed. The Superior Court, Appellate Division, 240 N.J.Super. 346, 573 A.2d 472, reversed, upholding submission of the question to the city's voters. After grant of certification, the Supreme Court held that ordinance was amenable to referendum process.

Appellate Division affirmed.

Ordinance authorizing execution of municipal development agreement and lease between city of Hoboken and Port Authority of New York and New Jersey was amenable to referendum process, where project contemplated would require major undertakings by city and forever change nature of community, and municipality had elected to take action through ordinance rather than through resolution of consent authorized by statute. N.J.S.A. 32:1-35.36c to 32:1-35.36n, 40:69A-185.

PER CURIAM.

We granted certification, --- N.J. ---, --- A.2d --- (1990), to consider the validity of a referendum question proposed to the voters of the City of Hoboken, calling **1369 for the repeal of a December 7, 1989, ordinance authorizing execution of a municipal development agreement and lease between the City of Hoboken and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey. Plaintiffs sought repeal of the ordinance pursuant to N.J.S.A. 40:69A-185, which grants the power of referendum to the voters in a Faulkner Act municipality. N.J.S.A. 40:69A-1 to -210. The statute defines the voters' power of referendum as the power "to approve or reject at the polls any ordinance * * * passed by the council * * *." The Appellate Division reversed a Law Division judgment and upheld the submission of the question to the city's voters. 240 N.J.Super. 346, 573 A.2d 472 (1990).

Legislation enables the Port Authority to participate in the Hoboken redevelopment project with the express approval of the City of Hoboken. N.J.S.A. 32:1-35.36c to -35.36n (Waterfront Development Legislation). By incorporating the compact of 1921, which created the Port Authority, see N.J.S.A. 32:1-35.36m, the Legislature conditioned such participation solely on the granting of municipal approval in the form of a resolution of consent. N.J.S.A. 32:1-23. Notwithstanding the incorporated provisions of N.J.S.A. 32:1-23, the municipality proceeded by *57 the ordinance method, thereby insuring broader and fuller public participation in the process of giving consent to the Port Authority's role.

Although Hoboken asserts that authorization of municipal approval by "resolution" reflects the Legislature's intention that the approval be insulated from the referendum process (N.J.S.A. 40:69A-185 applies only to "ordinances," not "resolutions"), we are unable to conclude that the Legislature considered or addressed the referendum issue in the Waterfront Development Legislation. In addition, although the city had on May 3, 1989, adopted a resolution agreeing in principle to enter a development agreement with the Port Authority, neither the Port Authority nor the State of New Jersey, through the Attorney General, has asserted that the provision for a referendum on this ordinance will be an unwarranted infringement on the bi-state agency's role. See Eastern Paralyzed Veterans, Inc. v. City of Camden, 111 N.J. 389, 545 A.2d 127 (1988) (no state or subdivision of a state may impose greater requirements on a bi-state agency than authorized by agency's enabling legislation).

575 A.2d 1368

Still, "any ordinance" in the Faulkner Act's provisions for referendum does not mean "all ordinances." Maese v. Snowden, 148 N.J. Super. 7, 12, 371 A.2d 802 (App.Div.1977). The referendum statute has been construed to extend to "any ordinance except such as to which a contrary legislative purpose may be discerned, whether express or implied." In re Certain Petitions for a Binding Referendum, 154 N.J. Super. 482, 485, 381 A.2d 1217 (App.Div.1977).

Although the effectuation of a redevelopment plan might best be regarded as an exclusively councilmanic function, not intended to be subject to referendum review, see Atlantic City Housing Action Coalition v. Deane, 181 N.J. Super. 412, 437 A.2d 918 (Law Div.1981) (when Legislature has established comprehensive and detailed requirements for redevelopment procedure, subject not appropriate for referendum), and although *58 land-use ordinances are not subject to referendum, Township of Sparta v. Spillane, 125 N.J. Super. 519, 312 A.2d 154 (App.Div.1973), certif. denied, 64 N.J. 493, 317 A.2d 706 (1974), there are features of this case that militate in favor of the validity of the referendum.

The ordinance approving the agreement contains a mix of factors. It contains at once the municipal consent required by the Waterfront Development Legislation; it contains specific details of construction; but, more importantly, it contains the outline of a broad legislative concept described as "a public alliance" between the City and the Port Authority. The project contemplated is of obvious import to the community. The project will require major undertakings by the city, including the expansion and improvement of sewer facilities. We **1370 believe that it would be an unduly-rigid interpretation of the Faulkner Act to say that because the subject ordinance contains land-use decisions or other redevelopment features that are administrative or executive in nature, that fact should necessarily insulate the broad legislative question from the referendum process. This ordinance will forever change the nature of the community. Its adoption is more than a merely administrative function of government.

Given those circumstances, coupled with the fact that the municipality itself has elected to take action by ordinance, the ordinance may properly be amenable to the referendum process. The subject is reasonably susceptible to a yes-no answer. The governing body may well have concluded that the broader the public participation engendered by the ordinance, the more certain will be the long-term support for the project. At oral argument we were informed that the governing body is conducting informational sessions to brief the public fully about the merits of the proposal.

Today's ruling does not in any sense mean that in other circumstances effectuation of a redevelopment project or its particulars or specifics should become the subject of a referendum *59 question in Faulkner Act communities, nor that all features of this project need be subject to the referendum process.

In Cuprowski v. City of Jersey City, 101 N.J.Super. 15, 242 A.2d 873 (Law Div.), aff'd o.b., 103 N.J.Super. 217, 247 A.2d 28 (App.Div.), certif. denied, 53 N.J. 80, 248 A.2d 433 (1968), the court expressed, as well as it can be said, the judicial dilemma:

In many situations it is difficult to determine how far the limitations [on initiative and referendum] should go. The courts must draw the line in these situations and in doing so must balance two interests--the protection of city government from harassment as against the benefits of direct legislation by the people. [101 N.J.Super. at 24-25, 242 A.2d 873.]

Given the chronology of events that has unfolded, we believe that those two interests are best served by permitting the scheduled referendum to proceed.

The judgment of the Appellate Division is affirmed.

For affirmance--Justices CLIFFORD, HANDLER, POLLOCK, O'HERN, GARIBALDI and STEIN--6.

For reversal--None.

END OF DOCUMENT

October 16, 2002

Council Member Tucker, through the Chair, requested City Clerk Marasco to read into the record letter from Dan O'Flaherty:

Dear Councilman Tucker:

Thank you for making available to me the documents on the proposed PA lease amendments. They raise very serious questions, and it would be a mistake of historic proportions for the council to rubber-stamp them quickly.

Here are my specific comments, roughly in order of decreasing importance:

1. This is a very serious matter--it involves the disposition of almost a third of the city for over 60 years. You and I are both likely to be dead for the majority of this period. The city should enter into this agreement only after several detailed independent analyses have been done. This is at least as important as the medical conditions for which all of us routinely get second opinions (not to mention the scientific and scholarly papers that always have three referees before they are published). To date, only one such analysis (not entirely independent) has been completed--by Brown and Berkeley. They conclude that this is a lousy deal. There has been no refutation of their work, a great deal of which I find telling. This matter should not move forward until someone has prepared an analysis of similar detail and expertise that refutes their conclusion. If the only doctor you went to said that the operation was unnecessary or harmful, you would not have the operation.

To proceed without any analysis that says what you are doing is the right thing--which is the position that the council is in now--would be the height of irresponsibility.

2. Paragraph (e) of the 19th amendment to the marine terminal agreement strikes me as illegal. Specifically, sub-paragraph (2) says that the PA will pay the $12.5 million a year (or $165 m up front) to a "governmental agency authorized to issue bonds". I think this violates the Local Fiscal Affairs Law and the Boncelet decision. The city must collect revenue that is due the city--it can't farm it out--and it has to go either to the general fund or a trust account under the supervision of the governing body. But I'm not in the business of practicing law without a license. Please consult with competent attorneys on this issue.

3. Given the financial position of the city over the next decade, the contract is irresponsible, especially the derogation of the $12.5 million a year.

Here is my picture of what the future holds. It is necessarily rough. I take as my baseline the current proposed budget, which I will take as including $35 million in PA revenue and a $75 million deficit (a sort of compromise figure that I have relative confidence in). (I also consolidate general, water and sewer funds).

2002: $100 m in PA funds is an increase of 65m, and 30 m in watershed money produces a surplus of 20m, which rolls over to 2003.

2003: Normal growth of the city budget adds 20 m in expenditures (probably more, based on the election year labor contracts). Revenues decrease by 10 m because the watershed conservation easement was one-shot. Hence the deficit is 105 m. On the other hand, PA money increases by 30 m over the current baseline and the sale of the water utility brings in another 30 m. The surplus is 20m rather than 8m in the current budget. Thus offsetting the 105 m deficit is only 72m in revenue. A deficit of 30 m plus for 2003. This is essentially best case scenario--no big increase in police and fire pension (likely to be on the order of magnitude of 20m) and no increase in schools (despite the promise of 15 m). So the deficit could be another 30 m, or 60 m.

2004--Same as 2003 except that normal growth of the city budget adds another 20 m to the deficit--so a deficit of 50 m in the best case scenario. But this also assumes that the payroll and parking taxes that expire on Dec 31, 2003 are reauthorized--something a legislature that sees wild profligacy and fiscal irresponsibility in Newark may be loathe to do.

2005--Same as 2004, except another 20m in normal growth, and no more money from the water sale. So add another 50m to the 2004 deficit for a 2005 deficit of 100 m--best case scenario.

My $20 m annual normal growth is extremely optimistic--the 2002 budget was up over the 2001 by over 50 m.

October 16, 2002

Now, I am not going to claim that my projections are the most accurate possible, or the best around. They took about 10 minutes for me to do, and I have no special inside information about what's going on in Newark city government. There are people who work for the city who should be giving this to you on a regular basis--even Columbia has a publicly available 5-year budget. You should get a credible 5-year plan from the BA before you even consider a 60-year plan.

4. Sharpe's claim that the PA lease amount can never decrease is incorrect. Consider the cap--"the consolidated base amount" on p.3 of the 18th supplemental agreement. This is 8% of current year revenue (if greater than 65m). By paragraph (c) on page 4, total payments can never exceed the cap. Let's go to a year when the 65 m is no longer binding, and suppose that the airport has a bad year, relative to the previous year and relative to the preceding quinquennium. Then the cap will be binding, and the payment to Newark will go down.

5. I worry that paragraph (g) in the 18th supplemental agreement means that the parking tax the city collects from the PA and the hotel tax on the Marriott are going to be credited against the basic payments. That's how I read those provisions--and if I can read them that way, so can some judge 15 years from now. That would be $5-10 m a year.

6. Brown and Berkeley raise a very important point when they say that "revenue" must be precisely defined in the agreement. It is the key term under which the contract will operate for the next 60 years. To dismiss it in one garbled paragraph is not responsible.

7. The other important Brown and Berkeley point is the need for an inflation correction in the minimum rules. They ask for CPI, but the more appropriate index would be the GDP deflator for state and local governments. If the prices state and local governments pay for what they buy increase at the same rate for the next 60 years that they did for the last 20, the 65 million base would be worth only 14 million. (See 2000 Statistical Abstract, table 777.) That assumes that the social security crisis will not trigger serious inflation in the 2020s.

8. (This one is higher priority.) The formula for payments under this contract is extraordinarily front-loaded, especially over the next decade. There is essentially no chance that the 10% of revenue provision will kick in until after 2012, and so the real value of payments under the contract will start at 100m in 2002 and then slide downward for the next decade. Even with 3% inflation, 2012 payments will be half as valuable as 2002 payments.

This is essentially borrowing from the future and to my knowledge no one has ever set forth an argument about why the future should be treated so shabbily. I can't respond to arguments that no one has ever made. Doing this in conjunction with the water utility sale makes it even worse. What we are witnessing is serious pillaging.

Why should the lease be structured so that over the next decade at least, real payments go inexorably down? Perhaps because we think the tax base will expand immensely over that period. But it has not expanded in the past, and the added burden of debt that the taxpayers have to bear is no incentive for expansion. The arena lease as reported in the Ledger further shrinks the tax base, and the relevant experience--the baseball stadium and the PAC--indicate clearly that the arena will do nothing for the city in terms either of taxes or of jobs. So does an incredibly unanimous array of economic research.

9. The name should stay Newark International Airport. The best way to link it the airport to 9/11, if somebody wants to do that, is to use the real relationship that exists--flight 93. "Newark Flight 93 International Airport" is the appropriate name--it links the airport to heroism. If you want to link the airport to tragic loss of life, the more appropriate event is the influenza epidemic of 1918, which killed 12,000 New Yorkers and 20 million people worldwide.

I realize that by the time you receive this some of the relevant sections may have changed. But that is all the more reason to counsel caution---if you as a member of the council with the assistance of the city clerk could not begin to analyze the relevant document on the weekend before a Wednesday vote, then no one can be expected to do so. And something that cannot be analyzed and debated intelligently should not be enacted.

In closing, I'm sorry for the haste with which I have had to put this email together, and thank you for letting me see these documents.

sincerely,
dan
